Fair Play in Life

I was walking on the shady alleys of a park in Portugal. There was a sweet smell in the air. Suddenly, I heard a beautiful sound from the water. After a little time, I decided I needed to get in the water. Probably a mermaid was bullying a human again.

I jumped as beautifully as I could. "A lot of new fish this year ..." I thought as I was swimming in the cold lake. Then I saw her. The beautiful mermaid was singing a beautiful song to make a boy come into the water. This is somehow "bullying", because once you get in the water of that lake you become a mermaid... I know from my experience, believe me.

I told her that it would be a really bad idea, since Poseidon, the god of sea, would punish her. This mythological world doesn't allow people, or... at least ALMOST people who don't respect fair play. She listened to me, because she was really scared, probably.

In the end... one tip for you! You could be a demi-god, a mermaid or a Cyclops, but if you are rude, your god parents will never want to recognize you, because they can get punished!

Good luck! Don't forget! Olympus is more than a mountain! We even have a luxurious spa there!
